Here are some notes from yesterday's community meeting CVMS.

Before COVID-19 our kids were very safe but, we don't know what will happen after the pandemic.

Even though we are thankful to have technology to support our kids during this situation, there are some problems with distance learning like kids getting bored quickly, waking up too late in the morning, refusing to do their homework or assignment and so on.

Also, some parents are still working from home, so it's very difficult to do their jobs and support their kids activities in the same time frame.

Some of parents are essential workers. They might need child care while they are in the job zone.

If the COVID-19 continues like this, it's very hard to tell the kids to keep social distance from any other Public Health Orders.

If the school starts and kids go to their class event in a different way; does the school control the kids?

Also, we can dream like 3 days of school and 2 day online. That is another option that as parents we are dreaming.

There could be another option to partition students in two groups morning and afternoon classes.
